Dear Citizens Redistricting Commission:

The Greenlining Institute would like to urge the commission to extend the public comment period on the slate of six beyond one hour, to at least 24 hours in the interest of preserving the intent and purpose of Proposition 11, the Voters FIRST Act, to put the public first and allow maximum public participation, while still maintaining an efficient and time-sensitive process. We believe one hour is not sufficient or appropriate at this important juncture.

Thank you,

Michelle Romero
