

M/Chair,

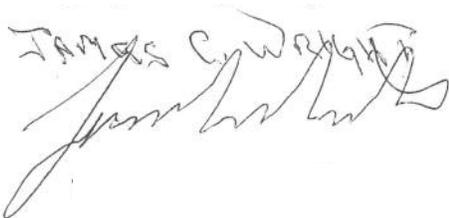

We who aspire to become members of this commission would probably find it useful to understand a bit more of the time that will be required of us. The overall schedule for completion of this process is quite clear from the proposition text, but the extent of an individuals participation is not.

I do understand that it is very early in the planning process and that the staff which the commission may hire will do much of the research and will also prepare illustrative documentation representing the alternatives considered and decisions reached.

So, as early and as best you can, would you please estimate how many hearings and meetings there are likely to be, where in the state they may be held and perhaps their duration?

One possible source for such an estimate may possibly be the history of prior re-districting efforts.

Thanks,
Jim Wright
