Recommendations – Proposed Redistricting Plan - Orange County Districts

Introduction Summary

Santa Ana LULAC Council #147 (League of United Latin American Citizens) is pleased to submit its recommendations for redrawing district boundary lines for state senate, state assembly, and federal congressional districts in Region III, Orange County in the state of California.

In the preparation of these plans, Santa Ana LULAC has adhered to the principles as stipulated in:

The United States Constitution,
The Federal Voting Rights Act,
The California Constitution -
Voters First Act (2008),
Voters First Act for Congress (2010).

In addition, Santa Ana LULAC has particularly given its attention to elements that merit emphasis in the following areas:

- ~ Equal population requirement with lowest deviation possible from target,
- ~ Optimal respect for Orange County's communities of interest,
- ~ Maintaining contiguity of districts per Commission guidelines,
- ~ Best efforts for consideration to avoid political division boundaries split.

These plans respect the boundaries of political subdivisions to the extent possible, adhering to the federal and state Constitution and appropriate legislation.

We have taken into consideration Orange County's basic geography (coastal, mountains, substantial hills areas, major local, state arterials to the greatest extent possible.

We have drawn these map plans with careful consideration of the need for district contiguity, district compactness, and senate district nesting configurations where it can be possible.

Santa Ana LULAC's plan was drawn with the understanding that the Citizens Redistricting Commission has received several submittals from community groups, as well as the Commission unveiling its first draft plans for public review, comment, and additional public input.

As to its work, the Commission presented its observation in a June 10 press advisory on the announcement of the first draft plans, it stresses:

"The Citizens Redistricting Commission has heard people in every corner of the state describe the characteristics of their communities and what makes them distinct and unique. They shared their thoughts on what other communities they would like included in their districts and which communities should not be included. A constant theme was their hope that the Commission succeeds and delivers on the promise of true reform."

"In contrast to previous redistricting, the Citizens Commission is releasing draft maps long before its final August 15th deadline, giving the public time to collaborate with the Commission to develop final maps that truly represent California. That is why the Commission will hold another round of public input hearings in June ..."

The redistricting maps being recommended by Santa Ana LULAC was drawn by a sub-committee consisting of only members Arturo Montez, Public Policy Director; Judy Perry, Technical Assistant, Minerva Gomez Stone, University Intern, and Zeke Hernandez, LULAC Council President. The group convened as many times possible and is committed to assisting the California Redistricting Commission by providing additional information if called upon.

Foremost in the objectives of committee members was to ensure that the voice of Latinos - Orange County's largest ethnic minority of interest, maximize their participation in elections, their votes be respected, and their voices be considered by officeholders.

At the same, our group presents these plans to be free of politics, at the same time, allows cities within Orange County to maximize their opportunities to dialogue with legislators and continue to be respected by an officeholder's open-door policy.

Santa Ana LULAC fully agrees with Chairman Gino Aguirre that these series of public input meetings will continue the dialogue with the public and that the recently released draft maps allow for this continuing conversation as well as serious consideration to the public's input and recommendations.

We certainly say to you "right on!" ... or should I say "Keep Drawing!" in these last days as the Commission takes the lead as cited by Commissioner Stanley Forbes of us the public, of all Californians - the question now is "Do the maps you have drawn "reasonably closely represent" what we asked you to do?

Santa Ana LULAC welcomes any additional questions the Commission may have and are ready to discuss any mutual issues and concerns relating to these recommendations if called upon.

Zeke Hernandez:

Arturo Montez:

COMMUNITY OF INTEREST

Since 1990, our state's Latino population accounted for 90% of the growth in population, Santa Ana LULAC and many Orange County residents urge the Commission to not take the road of dismissal, for it to walk down the path of understanding and responding as you should to the changes that are taking place in Orange County and throughout the state. We urge you to draw district maps that reflect the growth of our communities that will provide fair opportunities for every voter eligible to cast a ballot.

Santa Ana LULAC agrees with the Commission that the final maps drawn must comply with the federal Voting Rights Act of 1965. We urge the Commission to carefully receive public input and study California's history as well as its communities that make it so vibrant and a great place to live. We urge you to be bold and to "draw the line" against previous and potential discrimination in America's electoral process. We urge the Commission to assist in strengthening the underrepresented communities by providing electoral opportunities for probable individuals who wish to be "public servants" and also that each person who wishes to serve do so competing with others and being accountable and responsible to their communities within their districts.

While many tend to believe that every city is unique, this is less true in Orange County. If one was to drive Beach Blvd. or Harbor Blvd – or many like thoroughfares east to west or north to south, it is very difficult to determine what city you are in; but you can surely note where you might be by looking at the various neighborhoods, types of businesses, and people who are taking walks in the street. People have chosen to live in certain parts of Orange County because of the natural tendency to retain a relationship with your culture and heritage. Santa Ana LULAC implores upon the California Citizens Commission to respect the different communities of interest in the county; particularly its largest ethnic community constituting well over 44% of the county's population.

Media

There has been a tremendous increase of Spanish-Speaking, Hispanic/Latino residents in Orange County – contrary to the age-old myth that "behind the Orange County" is a 1950's style of suburban white, middle-class, professional "Ozzie & Harriet" families.

Orange County is home to the largest number of Spanish-language newspapers, magazines, and periodicals in the United States. Included are:

La Opinion (daily)
Para Todos
El Panamericano
El Orador

Businesses and Major Markets

There are over 30,000 Latino-owned businesses in Orange County; a big part of these are small businesses and family-owned. Their specific needs are met by the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, and other focused business associations.

~ Super Markets catering to a Latino have taken over many mainstream markets locations of Ralph's, Albertson's, Von's, Stater Brothers to capture a gigantic share of grocery market in Orange County. These include:

~ Gonzalez Northgate – One of the largest Latino supermarkets in the country. Over 20 super markets in Southern California; 13 super markets throughout central and north Orange County / Santa Ana - - 6; Anaheim – 5; La Habra – 1; Placentia – 1). This family-owned enterprise employs more than 3,500 people.

~ El Super Mercado (Anaheim - 2; Santa Ana - 1)

~ Superior Grocers (Santa Ana - 3; Buena Park - 1)

La Curacao – (Anaheim – 1; Santa Ana/Fountain Valley – 1). A chain of large format 100,000 sq. ft. department stores, ranks among the top 100 electronics and appliance retailer in the U.S.

Tourist Attractions Workforce

Orange County is home to Disneyland Resort (Anaheim) and Knott's Berry Farm (Buena Park), among the largest magnet tourist parks in Southern California. There is an extraordinary number of hotels and restaurants catering to the needs and pleasure of tourists from throughout the world. Working class Latinos in areas of service work are a big county slice of service workers at these amusement parks, restaurants, and hotels.

A large segment of Latino blue collar and service workers are employed at Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Anaheim Convention Center, Honda Center, Angels Stadium in Anaheim, and many attraction hotels and restaurants.

Culture and Heritage

Latino communities share a cultural background of celebrating traditional holidays and feast days and family associated events associated with their native countries and birthplaces of their parents, grandparents, and great grandparents. These include Cinco de Mayo, Fiestas Patrias, Dia de Los Muertos, Christmas Posadas, Day of the Tres Reyes, Dia de Madre, Observance of Lent, Baptismals, Child's 1st Holy Communion and Confirmation, and others.

Of course, one cannot step away from the traditions that bring our community of interest together with the music of mariachis, bandas, folkloric dancers, grupos nortenos. Menudo feasts, Christmas tamales and champurados, salsa fiestas and many more of these happy events – all relevant to our Latino community of interest.

48.4% of population of Santa Ana in 2008 is foreign-born and continue to grow. Anaheim has 37.1% foreign-born who are residents; with Garden grove having 46.9% who are foreign-born. (Nativity & Place of Birth Resident Population 2008 Data Chart, U.S. Census Bureau).

Healthcare Needs

The cities of Santa Ana and central Anaheim, are the cores areas that have the highest number of residents without health insurance, nearly 33% of the residents living in Santa Ana and 22% of the residents of Anaheim are without health insurance coverage. (American Communities Survey, 2010).

Fourteen ZIP code areas – including these from Santa Ana (92703, 92704, 92707), Anaheim (92804, 92801, 92802, 92805), Costa Mesa (92627), Fountain Valley (92708), Westminster (92683), and Garden Grove (92843, 92840, 92841, 92844) have more than 50% of the indigent population in Orange country (Medically Indigent care reporting System, 2010).

Approximately 48% of the total Spanish-speaking Medi-Cal eligible people come from Santa Ana and Anaheim (Geographic Health Profile, Orange County Health care Agency Research and Planning, 2011).

Language and Housing

Santa Ana and Anaheim has a larger percentage of English language learners in Orange County schools are Latinos. English Learners are highly concentrated in Santa Ana Unified School District K-12 (98.4%); Anaheim City School District (93.4%); Anaheim Union School District (98.4%); Garden Grove Unified School District (66.8%) The Spanish language constitutes more than a majority of the language spoken at home. (California Department of Education, Educational Demographics Office Data, 2009-2010).

There are large sections of renter-occupied homes are located Santa Ana, Anaheim, Garden Grove, Stanton, Fullerton, Buena Park, Cypress, and parts of Orange have high percentages (up to 80%) of rental homes. Santa Ana and Anaheim have a higher percentage of bankruptcies and home foreclosures in the county. (HealthyCity.org, 2010).

Santa Ana LULAC #147 believe that every city has its uniqueness with a realization that defined city lines do not stop communities of interest in crossing city boundaries to live day-to-day lives with family and friends. People live in neighborhoods and communities which in turn becomes the character of the city. The Latino community provides an excellent example of a cohesive and close community of interest that should be respected as the Commission draws its lines for future electoral elections.

We urge the Commission draw districts with community representation in mind – keeping in mind a community's demographics, languages spoken, cultural practices, educational concerns and visions, healthcare needs, like-businesses, workforce characteristics. Certainly we also believe that population equity in districts can be accomplished by adhering to the letter of the laws as prescribed by the Constitution, Voting Rights Act, and current legal declarations.

Respectfully Submitted,

Zeke Hernandez
