Like the residents of other foothill communities, we in La Crescenta and La Canada are the bastion and the gateway to the great wilderness area at our backs that belongs to the nation.

Our issues are the same as theirs: vigilance against forest fire, water conservation, unpolluted air. We share the same lifestyle which values natural landscapes and indoor-outdoor living. But we are not wilderness dwellers. We are people with urban jobs and businesses. La Canadans and La Crescentans support two nationally-admired school systems. Through the efforts of the City of La Canada and the Crescenta Valley Town Council plans are made and carried out to keep Foothill Boulevard both a useful and attractive major artery.

La Crescentans needs to be part of a voting district which includes people who are geographically and politically in the same position that we are.

Will you, Citizens of the Redistricting Commission, consider attaching the unincorporated area of La Crescenta to the district that includes the City of La Canada?

I'm #127 - you'll never get to me.
I'll email you.
I live in Sierra Madre, the west end of the notorious 59th A.D. which takes small slices of many communities on its way to Hesperia.
I would support a district that encompasses the Foothill 210 corridor and remains wholly a part of the San Gabriel Valley.
Sierra Madre, like Altadena, is part of the Pasadena Unified School Dist.

PUBLIC INPUT HEARING REGIONAL 2010 PL94-171 DATA PROFILE

REGION II

Inland Empire Region- area population 4,224,851. (PL94-171 2010) 11% of the state's population. This region includes San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

San Bernardino is the largest county in the continental United States by area. Riverside County has had substantial growth in population in recent years due to people moving away from big cities such as San Diego and Los Angeles. Riverside's population has grown by just over 555,000 between 2000 and 2008. (US Census). The cities of Temecula and Murrieta account for 20% of the increase in population of Riverside County between 2000 and 2007. (US Census)[1]

Industry: inexpensive land prices (compared to Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County), a large supply of vacant land, and a transport network where many highways and railroads intersect have made the Inland Empire a major shipping hub. Some of the nation's largest manufacturing companies have chosen the Inland Empire for their distribution facilities. While urbanization continues to cut in to agricultural lands, the inland empire still produces substantial crops.

PUBLIC INPUT HEARING REGIONAL 2010 PL94-171 DATA PROFILE

REGION II

Inland Empire Region- area population 4,224,851. (PL94-171 2010) 11% of the state's population. This region includes San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

San Bernardino is the largest county in the continental United States by area. Riverside County has had substantial growth in population in recent years due to people moving away from big cities such as San Diego and Los Angeles. Riverside's population has grown by just over 555,000 between 2000 and 2008. (US Census). The cities of Temecula and Murrieta account for 20% of the increase in population of Riverside County between 2000 and 2007. (US Census)[1]

Industry: inexpensive land prices (compared to Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County), a large supply of vacant land, and a transport network where many highways and railroads intersect have made the Inland Empire a major shipping hub. Some of the nation's largest manufacturing companies have chosen the Inland Empire for their distribution facilities. While urbanization continues to cut in to agricultural lands, the inland empire still produces substantial crops.
