Message Body:

There are several reasons to join Marin County with Sonoma County in drawing district lines. Sonoma County and Marin County share many issues which concern these relatively similar communities. San Francisco does not share the same population and business densities as Marin County and has vastly different political issues that concern it. Transportation, business, residential and commuting interests join Marin and Sonoma counties more each year resulting in a diminishing focus on San Francisco as a focal point. Political, social and geographical harmonies are better achieved by joining Marin and Sonoma counties in your redistricting plans.

Thank you
