

Resided for a period or periods totaling 30 days or more during the past 12 months

Example #1

I am new in town and I have been staying with my sister and my brother in-law for the past six weeks. It is just a temporary situation until I find my own place. My sister and my brother in-law are members of my immediate family because, even though it is a temporary situation, I have resided with them for a period totaling 30 days or more during the past 12 months.

Example #2

I live at home with my parents, but I pay them rent each month. My parents are members of my immediate family because, even though I pay a monthly rent, I have resided with them for a period totaling 30 days or more during the past 12 months.

Example #3

My registered domestic partner and I lived with her father for 3 weeks in April 2009 and 3 weeks in October of 2009. He is a member of my immediate family because I have resided with him for periods totaling 30 days or more during the past 12 months.
