Commissioners,

On the proposed first page for your website ...

- The title line should NOT include the word "first".
- A dark blue background is O.K.. The supposition that the color would be associated with Print and TV media's selection of blue for Democratic states might only apply if a medium blue had been chosen.
- Please add language buttons, labeled in the appropriate language. At the very least a Spanish version of key pages should be supplied. Your sample page was apparently in Latin, so it should have had an ENGLISH button to take me to a page in English.
