

From: James Wright [REDACTED]
Date: Sun, Mar 27, 2011 at 9:39 PM
Subject: PUBLIC COMMENT - public records and records retention
To: votersfirstact@crc.ca.gov

Commissioners,

Public records for the Commission include Public Comments; anything posted on the Commission website; Meeting agendas, videos, transcripts; eMails; advertisements; map submissions and all forms of written and electronic documents.

What about the content retained on Commissioner's personal laptop computers?

My observation is that most Commissioners are using laptop computers during (and probably between) meetings to keep notes (among other unknown activities). Are those "documents" also "Public Records" subject to the state public records retention policies and possible disclosure through Freedom of Information requests?

If so, are they being collected and cataloged somewhere to prevent their destruction?

Jim Wright
a voter from San Jose