I live in the San Fernando Valley as part of the City of Los Angeles. After the previous census, I got a new Congressional district, a new State Senate and Assembly District and a new Councilmanic District. I am not complaining about the quality of representation since it turned out they were all great guys and gal. But so were my previous representatives.

To simplify your job, if you have not already done so, The American Scientist about 5-19 years ago published a paper for a State reapportionment that could do that. All you had to do was plug in the census data and the main limitations and requirements, Contiguous districts, municipalities together etc. If you insist I can look for the back issues but I have given mine away long ago to a deserving high school.
