

From: Andrew Kincaid [REDACTED]
Subject: Long Beach & LA-Orange County Line

Message Body:

The southeast corner of Los Angeles County is unique, organic and historical. The smaller Orange County beach communities on the other side of the San Gabriel River have not shared the same history or culture.

Naples, the Peninsula and Belmont Heights & Shore were established on or after 1903 and were always oriented to Long Beach and Los Angeles County. You could not even drive to Seal Beach, and the first connection was the PE trestle over the Alamitos Bay. We still reach it by crossing a bridge. Please respect our geographic integrity and use the county line for your boundaries.