Message Body:

I was one of the 30,000 applicants for the CRC and felt the cut early on. I see in the bios that all 14 commissioners have graduate degrees. If you would have been more transparent at the beginning of the process you would have saved us hundreds of hours of manpower by informing us of the education requirements. I attended two hours of the business meeting in Long Beach today and quite understand the necessity for the higher education and polish of the final fourteen but somehow I feel cheated out of the time I and those 30,000 others spent on our applications.
