Message Body:

I am Brett Fairless and I have grown up in the San Fernando Valley. I went to the same private and elementary school in Reseda and then continued my private education in high school. Having graduated from California State University Northridge it's safe to say that I have spent my whole life in the western cities of the San Fernando Valley, and I see my future in these surrounding cities. With the upcoming redistricting effort, I see the future impact and what can happen. For the next ten years of my life I would like to be placed in a district of similar communities.

The San Fernando Valley is composed of so many cities that are similar and also very opposite. The western end of the San Fernando Valley is comprised of cities that are very comparable. Mainly, the cities of Chatsworth, West Hills, Porter Ranch, and Canoga Park are an ideal compilation for a district. I strongly suggest that these cities not be separated but grouped with surrounding cities, for the commonalities of the residents. Ideally, the cities of Thousand Oaks, Westlake Village, and Simi Valley are similar in community and residents and would make for a great addition to the cities I have suggested.
