I understand the current California Assembly districts boundaries basically cut Santa Barbara County in half.

Why? I don't feel any connection with Ventura County. You yourself know there are large stretches along the 101 between Ventura County and Santa Barbara County where the only life are seals and sea gulls, unless you go in land, and there you get mountain shrub brush clinging to the side of the Santa Ynez mountains.

I vote to join Santa Barbara County into one assembly district. By the way, I am a Santa Barbara county resident and voter.
