

I am a native Californian currently living in San Francisco and I am very concerned that the redistricting - commission will not be fair and unbiased in drawing the district lines. -

I understand that "citizen group" (also known as "special interest" groups) such as MALDEF, NALEO, and The Greenlining Institute are influencing the decisions of the commission. This is not what the voters signed up for. The idea was to eliminate the "special interest" group influence to determine fair and unbiased district lines based on common social interests/concerns and geographically contiguous areas...No More Rediculous, Convolved, Gerrymandered districts to serve special interests or a particular political party.

Don't divide us by race, ethnicity, religion, language, income, and especially not by political party. We are all - Americans and Californians and we are all in this together. -

California is counting on you to get this done right so that we can have truly fair elections to put the most - qualified candidates in office...not just the ones with the right letter after their name (D or R). That's we - appointed an "independent" commission so the judges and lawyers don't have to come in and clean up a - partisan mess. -

Sincerely, -
Tim Goepner -
San Francisco -