Frankly, when I first opened the email and looked at the proposed redistricting, I was appalled. The term that comes to mind is gerrymandering. I hope you are familiar with this – if not, please feel free to consult Webster’s Dictionary. If this is not some sick joke perpetrated on an unsuspecting public by a college student, I suggest that the committee rethink the redistrict lines. Better yet, leave them alone. Coachella Valley is well represented by its elected officials and this idiotic attempt to politicize a district that is well balanced in the name of “fairness” is both corrupt and illegal. Be sure that it will be fought by intelligent, informed citizens in this valley.
